President Iris attends the LWML convention in Albuquerque

Our American sisters, LWML, are holding their national convention June 22-25 in Albuquerque, New Mexico. They meet under the theme "Jesus Christ above all" from Philippians 2:9. During the convention they will also celebrate their 75th anniversary. President Iris will attend the convention and bring greetings on behalf of LWMLC. She has also been invited to participate in the banner procession Friday morning. President Iris will carry the banner from our founding convention in 1993. The banner depicts our motto "Called to Serve."

Live streaming of the convention will be available at livestream.com/TheLWML. The procession will be at 8:00 a.m. PDT. Greetings are scheduled for 2:00 PDT Friday afternoon.

Celebrate LWML-Canada Sunday

Living our Faith, Loving our Neighbour

It's time to start preparations for this year's LWML-Canada Sunday. Resources are at lutheranwomen.ca or order from the Resource Centre (resourcecentre@lutheranwomen.ca; 1-888-596-5226, ext. 220). Some resources have been updated to fit the theme of "Living Our Faith, Loving Our Neighbour" so you will want to check everything out. And, some new items have been added, both with a Reformation flavour in this 500th anniversary year. One is an idea to encourage prayer in the congregation, the other a mission project in Nicaragua above and beyond our mission grants. Check them out now as both require some advance planning.

An update on our website

Have you checked out our newly designed website? One of the most recent additions is a convention information page with the logo and theme as well as a counter to count down of the days to convention and a map to the location.

While the site looks great, it still has a few hiccups. For example, if you are looking for district pages, please be patient. The difficulty is not with our website crew but with the company that hosts our site.
