New data manager takes over Tapestry circulation and data collection

Receiving and processing subscriptions for Tapestry is one of the duties of LWML—Canada's data manager. A new subscription year will be coming up early in 2018 and your orders and any questions will be directed to Samantha Neeb.

Samantha has been appointed as the new data manager for LWMLC. She has been working with our current data manager, Laura Goerz, to learn the details of the position and is now ready to take the reins. We welcome Samantha with grateful thanks to God that He has given her skills she will use in service to the league both as circulation manager and the collector of data.

Thank you to Laura Goerz who has served very ably as our data manager. God has given Laura a heart for mission and a love of LWMLC. I'm sure we will continue to see her as an active participant in our mission.

Renewal forms will be sent with the next issue of Tapestry (spring 2018) and are to be returned to Samantha by April 30. Data updates will be requested soon. Contact information for Samantha will be included with both.

Write for Tapestry

Spring 2018: In Christ we're not afraid to do the right thing...by turning the other cheek
Deadline: ~~November 1, 2017~~ extended to November 20, 2017

We'd love to have you write for Tapestry. The deadline is fast approaching. Consider the following ideas and your life experiences or life-learning to help readers of the magazine grow in faith and action.

- Is turning the other cheek a passive action? Is it the brand of tolerance, of the sameness, demanded in today's society? Jesus is the ultimate example of turning the other cheek. How has Scripture helped you to know when to take a stand and when to turn the other cheek?
- In the world today turning the other cheek makes us different. Such behaviour is counter-cultural in Canada today. How does Christ invite us to respond to what is presented in the media? How have you put it into action?

- When we have been hurt by others, especially family, do we hurt them back? Seek revenge? Treating them with love can demand control of self. Illustrate how the Spirit, through the Word, can help us know what to do.

Any of the above might tie into the Lenten or Easter seasons or perhaps you have an activity, recipe or story to share.

In the following issue we will consider an aspect of the next convention theme, "One in Spirit, One in Purpose."

*Send your submission to editor-in-chief, Marion Hollinger,
