The Great Bulletin/Display Board Challenge

Let your creativity shine!

From now until the end of May, the Member Development Committee of LWML-Canada challenges you to submit a photo of your efforts to show your congregation what LWMLC is about via a bulletin board or a display board. Submit your photo and a note describing the event at which it was used (or an ongoing, ever-changing display, if that is the case) to Annette Borchardt, Vice-President Member Development (vpmemberdevelopment@lutheranwomen.ca). The committee says there are prizes to be had!

Don't have a display board or bulletin board? There are options. You can purchase an inexpensive, light-weight, coroplast display board from any office supply store. You can borrow the national display board (see photo at right) from the Resource Centre (resourcecentre@lutheranwomen.ca) on a short-term basis for the cost of shipping. Maybe another group in your congregation or community has a display board you might borrow. And, if none of that works, how about purchasing a couple of sheets of poster board and using some flipchart stands. We women can be quite creative if the need arises.

To help you create an exciting and attractive display, the Member Development Committee has put together some tips that will be available through the next issue of Staying Connected coming to your society and via the LWMLC website.

LWML-Canada display board

Note that the header and centre panel are permanent. The two side panels may be used with velcro to hold things in place. Side panels are 11" x 22.625" and the entire thing folds up to 25" x 25" – a display in a briefcase.
