

Thank you, Lord

by Doris Schaeffer

This fall we are starting to venture out of our homes—shopping, visiting friends, and yes, attending church. Hopefully many of the activities we were doing before lockdown, we are once more enjoying. We appreciate simple little things, like getting our hair cut or going to the library or seeing our families.

God gave us family and friends to help us live through the last year. He gave scientists the knowledge to give us vaccines and doctors to heal us. He gave us the knowledge needed to fight fires and floods.

We thank our Lord for all the blessings He has given us and still gives us.

It is amazing how the birds and animals go about their lives. I have been watching them out of my window in the bad weather and from our deck in the good weather. They always seem to find food and protection regardless of the weather.

Jesus has blessed us, redeemed us, forgiven us. He loves us. What a wonderful joyous feeling that is.
